Organization Design & Strategy

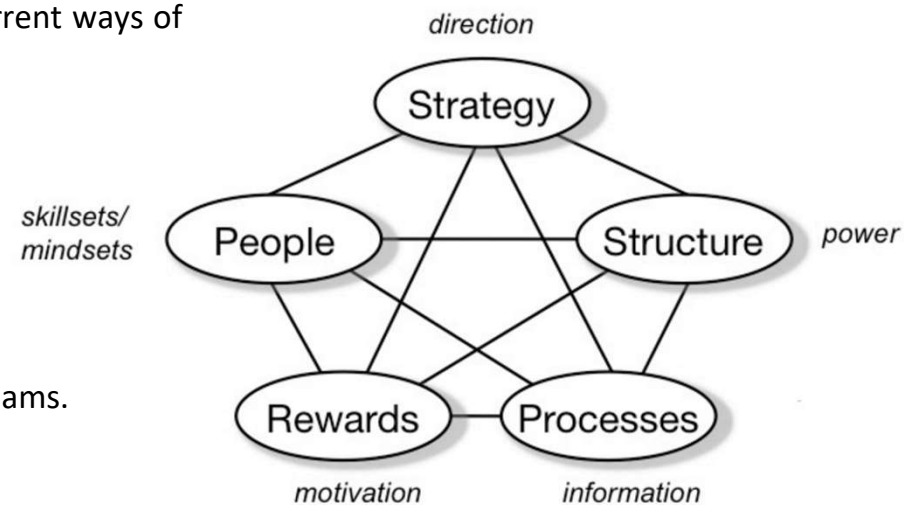

We can work with you to formulate your strategy and/or organization design. The strategy and structure of your organization forms the foundation from which you can grow and develop as a business. However, too many organizations are held back with red tape and politics due to complicated structures which in turn does not allow the company to innovate, grow and become the place to work.

AI BURAQ believes in making things simple for you. We will work with you to formulate the best-fit design for your organization that is based around "The Star Model" above.

Your "Best-fit" design will depend on what you want to achieve and your current ways of working to include your strategy, structure, rewards, processes & people.

We can work with you to deliver:

- ❖ Best-fit origination design options.
- ❖ Best-fit department design options.
- ❖ The re-design of business-unit structures, major functions and business teams.
- ❖ Assessments on how effective your current organization structure is.
- ❖ Company and HR strategy design.

Project Management Control Plan

Management of construction projects can be a complex process. Clear & well-coordinated technical management is essential to ensure on-time and within cost completion of projects.

Al BURQA wealth of expertise ensures that projects are delivered cost effectively, according to exact specifications and punctually.

Our dedicated personnel equipped with highly developed methods and systems is your guarantee. The entire project is managed from a total engineering and operations perspective.

At Al BURQA , only the most up-to-date construction management techniques are implemented and executed by highly competent and most qualified construction field experts in the industry.

Engineering personnel and training

We regard our people to be our best resource.

We seek to employ technically founded personnel who possess the “Can Do” attitude and are masters in their own field of expertise.

Our staff is highly motivated. We provide a nurturing environment that allows each person to achieve their own personal goals while contributing their energies, ideals, and creativity in every project.

AL BURAQ further enhances these skills through constant internal and external training and on-the-job “growing by learning” exposures towards total project quality management.
